

Call for Research Activity Video Presentation

This call is devoted to student and young professionals to present their innovative research ideas in the field of interest of IEEE.

The competitors shall prepare a 5 minutes video: “My research idea in 5 minute” in which they will present their research idea and activity using slides, pictures, photos, graphics, lab demo, etc., to describe in the most convincing and attractive way their innovative idea, achievements and field of application.

The audience present at the IEEE MELECON competition for the Research Activity Video Presentation will be able to vote their favorite video (instructions on the voting procedure will be provided on site).

The competition will take place during IEEE MELECON 2022 on June 16, 2022 (see programme schedule on the web page of the conference to know the exact time). The participation of competitors is free. The competition will be an hybrid event. Competitors can participate in person or remotely to answer the questions of the audience.

More details about the platform to be used for the “live streaming event” and how to access, will be available on the conference web and sent to all competitors.

All competitors (max 10) selected for presenting at the competition will receive a participation certificate. The best research idea will be awarded with a customized IEEE certificate.

Young professionals and students willing to participate in this competition shall send an e-mail to this address: ypsb@melecon2022.org not later than May 31, 2022.

In the object of the e-mail the participant in this competition should write:

Research Activity Video Presentation - name surname

In the text of the e-mail the participant shall include the following info:

- title of the video
- name and affiliation of the author/s
- e-mail of the author of reference

The deadline for the submission of the video is June 3, 2022. All videos shall be in MP4 format, not larger than 150 MB and they shall not be longer than 5 minutes.

Competitors must fill in the form at this address: <https://italy.ieeer8.org/2022-ieee-melecon-best-research-activity-pitch-presentation-of-phd-students-and-young-professionals/> indicating the link (YouTube private, Google Drive,) where the video can be seen and downloaded and giving their consent for privacy.

A special commission will select the best videos (maximum 10 video) that will be projected and voted by the audience present at the event.

All videos will be uploaded on IEEE Italy Section web and media (depending on author permission).
